Inceeling Tensioned

Motorised screens

The screen is there... but you only see it when you need it! In all environments where aesthetics are a primary requirement—whether at home or in your office—Inceeling represents the ideal solution. Thanks to its innovative design, the motorized roll-up screen is housed in a false ceiling and is therefore visible only when it is actually in use. Once the projection is finished, the screen rewinds silently into its housing, becoming completely invisible. Moreover, its ease of installation and use makes Inceeling a product that is as refined as it is pleasant to use. Installation is simple and precise thanks to the included cutting template, which allows the false ceiling to be cut accurately and quickly. A system designed to facilitate the work of installers and designers, reducing time and margins of error.
